Veterans Organization to Recognize Local First Responders During National Convention

WASHINGTON D.C. (August 10, 2021) - AMVETS is proud to honor several first responders and local heroes during the organization's 76th National Convention in Greensboro, NC, this August. The award presentations are coordinated by AMVETS' HEAL Program, which assists veterans with the medical needs and quality healthcare they've earned, at no cost to the veteran.

Those to be honored are Prince George's County Officer Dominick Gabriel Chambers, Prince Williams County firefighters Victor Angry and State Senator Jeremy McPike, and Veterans Employment Services Manager for Northern Virginia Serena Bermudez, who is also a Navy veteran.

“Often we celebrate our nation’s first responders as a whole, but rarely as individuals,” AMVETS’ Chief Medical Executive Cherissa Jackson said. “It’s our privilege to honor these incredible professionals on AMVETS’ highest stage this August. These DMV residents embody all that is good in our community.”

The First Responders Award Presentation will take place at the Sheraton Greensboro Four Seasons August 20th at 7:00 PM.
